

Anthropocene Slam Zürich

13 May 2015,
19.00–22.00
Alumni (GEP) Pavillon, Poly-terrasse, ETHZ

Megacities, intensive agriculture, climate change and synthetic biology: nature has become artificial. There is no spot left on earth that is untouched by humans.

We invite you to a provocative evening with slams from physicists, historians, artists, architects and ecologists who will explore what it means to live in a new geological age shaped by us: the Anthropocene.

This event is part of a series organised by Environmental Humanities Switzerland (www.eh-ch.ch) with the support of the Swiss Academic Society of Environmental Research and Ecology (www.saguf.ch)

with live music, bar and food
from 18.30