Swiss competition of phenology and seasonality research 2023-2024

Dear Sir or Madam

The mission of the Swiss Commission of Phenology and Seasonality research (CPS) is to promote research and communication of all aspects of seasonality science to a larger audience. CPS specifically promotes young researchers. The Swiss competition of phenology and seasonality research is announced annually.

We invite students and young scientists working in Switzerland on projects dealing with aspects of timing in the biotic and abiotic environment to apply for the Swiss competition of phenology and seasonality research 2023–2024. Persons with ongoing or finished projects (2 years after completion) are eligible to participate. We consider «Maturaarbeiten» as well as Bachelor, Master or PhD theses. Early postdocs can still apply with their work from the PhD within two years after PhD graduation. Moreover, we also consider media products and art projects that communicate phenology and seasonality research to a broader audience.

The prize money is CHF 1'000.- and is given out entirely to one or in parts to several winners. With this prize, the CPS supports ideas and engagement to promote phenology research.

The winner of the 2023 competition will be announced by e-mail in early 2024 and will be invited to present the poster at the CPS stand during the Swiss Global Change Day on 10 April 2024.

Please send the following information until 31 January 2024 to Yann Vitasse (yann.vitasse@wsl.ch) or Sibylle Stöckli (sibylle.stoekli@agroscope.admin.ch)

- pdf file of a poster (max.10 MB) describing your project in the most attractive way (favor illustrations and avoid too much text)
- Short Curriculum Vitae (maximum 2 pages, pdf file)

We thank you for your application in support of Swiss phenology and seasonality research.

Kind regards,

On behalf of the members of the commission
